February 15, 2018

NEW YORK, Feb. 15, 2018 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- iFresh, Inc. (NASDAQ:IFMK), ("iFresh" or "the Company"), a leading Asian American grocery supermarket chain and online grocer, announced today that iFresh customers will soon be able to pay for items using Alipay's Mobile Wallet. Alipay is a leading digital payment platform operated by Ant Financial, and a popular means of online and mobile payment for Chinese consumers. Once available, iFresh will provide Alipay services online and in stores in the U.S. through the activation and implementation support of CITCON, a leading cross-border mobile payment and marketing solutions provider that helps connect merchants with Chinese mobile wallet users.

"Electronic wallets and mobile e-commerce are continuing to gain popularity due to the rise of easy-to-use mobile devices," Long Deng, Chairman and CEO of iFresh, commented. "We are pleased to partner with Alipay and CITCON as we keep optimizing our service to provide a secure, trustworthy and convenient online and in-store shopping experience. It allows students and tourists from China to shop with us seamlessly. As the first local supermarket chain to accept Alipay, we are looking forward to a revenue growth."

"Many Chinese consumers shop at specialty grocery stores in the U.S. where they can find Asian foods and other products that may not be available at local supermarkets," said Souheil Badran, President, Alipay Americas. "By accepting Alipay at the register, iFresh will provide both in-store and online customers with the ability to pay using a familiar payment method, diminishing any language or payment barriers they may have otherwise faced. We are thrilled to partner with iFresh to give their customers the best shopping experience possible whether they are living or visiting in the U.S."
