

iFresh North Miami Grand Opening and Ribbon Cutting Ceremony was Held on February 7

February 10, 2020

NEW YORK, Feb. 10, 2020 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- An official grand opening and ribbon cutting ceremony was held last Friday for iFresh North Miami store in Florida. The store is located at 551 NE 167TH Street in North Miami Beach. Commissioner Barbara Kramer, Mayor Anthony F. DeFillipo, Taiwanese American forensic scientist Henry Lee, Canadian comedian Mark Henry Rowswell (also known as Dashan) and iFresh CEO Long Deng attended the ceremony.

Located in the heart of a densely populated metro area with a large Asian demographic, the new 30,000 square foot supermarket has undergone almost four years of construction and renovation to accommodate a wide variety of commercial spaces. The new iFresh location will be the largest supermarket in the area, offering a diverse selection of specialty Asian foods, snacks, beverages, and household goods. The supermarket will also feature a wide selection of locally sourced and seasonal produce and goods. NYM N. Miami plans to lease additional planned commercial space to local businesses, and thus far has leased a portion of the space to local businesses including a spa, a Chinese tea store, and liquor stores. With seven food vendors within the supermarket, we are hoping to make the new iFresh location a staple to many shoppers in the area with a large variety of offerings as well as a commitment to high standards.

Mr. Long Deng commented: "I'm proud to attend today's ceremony. The NYM N. Miami store is in Chinatown, and we are looking forward to embracing new opportunities in this city."
